

Press Release

Contact:
DARCY POWELL
(419) 842-2210

For Immediate Release

ESYNC® to Merge with TranSystems, Fueling New Business Growth and Increasing Supply Chain Capabilities and Market Reach

Toledo, Ohio, April 25, 2007 – TranSystems, a full-service transportation infrastructure and management consulting company, and ESYNC, a leading strategic supply chain consulting firm, announce the definitive agreement for a merger of the two companies. All ESYNC management and staff will be retained and ESYNC Principals and co-founders, John Sidell and Jim McNerney, will continue as Principals serving in leadership positions within TranSystems.

TranSystems has several lines of business including architectural, engineering and planning, real estate consulting and transportation security; the addition of ESYNC will bolster its rapidly growing supply chain management group. With over 1,000 employees across more than 38 sites, the merged organization will offer each other's customers more robust consulting capabilities, wider geographic support and a deeper resource pool.

"Given the ever-increasing demands that the global economy brings, this is absolutely the right time for this move. TranSystems has a deep bench of international supply chain expertise, and that, combined with ESYNC's breadth and depth of technical and operational talent, will add value to our clients' global supply chains," says John Sidell, ESYNC Principal.

"ESYNC's tremendous experience with supply chain operations and technical implementations is a vital link in TranSystems' growth plan for the supply chain group, and a meaningful bridge to our existing transportation capabilities and expertise," says Brian Larson, TranSystems President and CEO. "We look forward to the knowledge, resources and market leadership the addition of ESYNC will bring."

"We've planned the transition carefully and are excited by the opportunities the merger represents," says Jim McNerney, ESYNC Principal. "Both companies are committed to ensuring that our clients experience a seamless transition."

ABOUT TRANSYSTEMS

TranSystems provides architecture, engineering and planning; management and supply chain consulting; real estate consulting; and security services to all sectors of the transportation industry. TranSystems' ability to meet the continuum of transportation challenges facing clients anywhere in the world is founded on extensive modal expertise, technical disciplines and consulting services brought into one integrated business entity. For more information, visit www.transystems.com.

ABOUT ESYNC®

ESYNC is a strategic supply chain consulting, integration and implementation services firm that helps clients achieve bottom-line results. ESYNC's service offerings facilitate development of supply chain strategies, optimize logistics networks and operations and, when appropriate, deploy technology and software systems. Contact ESYNC today for more information - 419.842-2210 or www.esync.com.